This time, We would like to compare the amount of snowfall in the early winter and the midwinter with photographs.

All photos were taken in the same place. They show comparison of snowfall amounts between 17th November of this year and midwinter seasons (December~January) on past years.

We usually can hear like "About 〇 inches of snow accumulation is expected" in the news. But personally, I hadn't realized how much snow it falls by inches. Through these photos, we can realize a huge amount of snow fall in Asahidake area.
