【 Nature Information 】

Spring Plants

The snows began to melt, so spring plants can be seen around visitor center.

The representative flowers that you can see in this season are Marsh-marigold, Asian skunk cabbage, and Butterbur sprouts. These flowers are easily found in marshland.

Please do not enter areas where there is no snow for plant protection.

Marsh-marigold

Grows in marshlands along a stream. And is also called 'Yachibuki' because of its rounded, butterbur-like leaves.

Asian skunk cabbage

Asian skunk cabbage's flowers are yellow parts densely packed on a stick. The white stuff that looks like petals is a transformation of the leaves.

Butterbur sprouts

Butterbur has the specail characteristic of producing flowers and petioles saperately from same stem. We call the flower as Butterbur sprouts, and the leaves as butterbur.
